I have no facts regarding that claim or what was happening in the mine itself. None O that has been shared with me, but obviously I am very interested in that.

Jim: I think you can skip this call by one issues that has arisen that may involve OSRTI is a claim that this was caused by the failure to follow proper procedure/policy for conducting assessments.

Thank for including me.

ERT is deployed and supporting. At this juncture I am not sending a need to participate on the call unless you all see a need.

Lets discuss tomorrow the details of unified command - what desks have bee set up? Ensuring all information is processed through incident command, and that there's coordination through HQ EOC.

First we need to schedule a meeting sometime on Monday to discuss several of the following items:

Who and what is involved with regards to the policy review for the actions taken at the mine and the policy/tactics that are part of the newly identified assessment? Who from OSWER should get a seat at the table?

What do we need to do with regard to the headquarters EOC to support the multi region response? I spoke with Dave and the incident command and the area command are being moved to Durango. Dave with be in charge of the area command.

Becky can you see when we can have this conversation.

Thanks
